LOUIS BERTRAND

SAINT AUGUSTIN. Translated by VINCENT O'SULLIVAN. 7s. 6d. net.

"M. Bertrand never for a moment loses sight of the human interest of the story he tells so gracefully and so devoutly . . . a book of large and well-digested learning."—The Scotsman.

PERCY F. MARTIN, F.R.G.S.

MAXIMILIAN IN MEXICO. Fully Illustrated. 21s. net.
Twice has the Empire of Mexico been proclaimed, twice have its Emperors been put against the walls and shot, and now in our own day the Government of the Republic has, for the second time, defaulted in its financial obligations. "Maximilian in Mexico" is the story of the ill-fated Hapsburg Prince, brother of the present King of Austria. The story of his life and of his reign is succinctly dealt with by Mr. Martin, who has unrivalled acquaintance with the history of the Central American States. Maximilian was betrayed by Napoleon III. and was executed by his own subjects. A book which can only rank as a standard authority.

All Society Curious to know
Who has Written this Clever Novel?

But the Author for the present remains anonymous.

THE LADY OF GROSVENOR PLACE

By a TITLED MEMBER OF SOCIETY, is causing a Sensation.

First supplies at once exhausted.

There is a run on this Novel

The THRICE BORN

By THEODORE FLATAU, Author of "The Soul of the Dancer."

THE TIMES says: Exposes a Scandal of Fashionable Egypt. Makes a strong appeal to the reader.

FFYNON THE SIN-EATER

By "A WHISPER" Author of "Black Mark"
TIMES: The Writing and craftsmanship deserve all praise.

TIMES: A cloak and sword romance very popular in France.

BLUSH ROSE

By ERNEST VIZETELLY

Has been compared with "The Three Musketeers," and gained for its French author the Cross of the Legion of Honour.

DAILY CHRONICLE: "It would sound like exaggeration to declare the book was of the same breed as the immortalities of Dumas; but it is not so unlike, and shows an extraordinary fertility of invention. It were as easy to put Vesuvius in a pill-box as adequately to suggest or epitomise the varied interest."

THE ACADEMY: "One more romance of war, and stirring events . . . The reader hurries breathless to know what will happen. . . .
Thanks are due to Mr. Vizetelly for placing within reach of all English readers a good rendering of an interesting French romance."

DEMOCRACY IN NEW ZEALAND.

Translated from the French of ANDRÉ SIEGFRIED.
With an Introduction by DOWNIE STEWART, and a Map. Crown 8vo. 6s. net.

"New Zealand in its isolation at the antipodes is probably the least known of the Dominions to the ordinary reader. For further ignorance he has now no excuse. Here is a brilliant book that will tell him—and not merely him, but the serious student as well—nearly everything. Well informed, well ordered, well documented, it is written with a Latin ease and clarity which an excellent translation does nothing to conceal."

THE CONTEMPORARY ENGLISH VIEW OF NAPOLEON.

By F. J. MACCUNN, B.A., late Scholar of Queen's College, Oxford. Crown 8vo. 5s. net.

No one has hitherto set forth fully how the great Emperor appeared in his lifetime to the nation of shopkeepers who spilled his destiny. The book is a careful piece of research, with many quotations from contemporary sources, from the remarks of Wellington and the verdict of Wordsworth to the

A LITERARY EVENT.

NEW LONG NOVEL By Mr. MORLEY ROBERTS

Ready on Thursday, March 12th, Price 6s.

Time and Thomas Waring

By MORLEY ROBERTS.

Mr. Morley Roberts is one of the few leading novelists who holds his public together with a sure hand, despite the fact that we never know what to expect from him when a new novel of his is announced as forthcoming. Will it be one of his joyous books—flashing, witty, and magnetic; or will it be a work in his more serious mood, piercing with arrow-flights of truth, the middle-class armour of stupidity at every joint? It may be said at once that "Time and Thomas Waring" is unlike any other novel in the English language. It is the story of a man whose outlook on life is entirely changed by an operation he undergoes in a nursing home, and it preaches the gospel of tolerance and human kindness to an extent that is not likely to be acceptable to those worthy people whose lives are governed by convention. "Time and Thomas Waring" is enormously interesting, and it contains more knowledge of human nature—especially of feminine motives and the things which women do not tell each other—than ninety-nine novels out of every hundred.

A BROTHER OF QUEEN ALEXANDRA.

The Life of the Emperor Francis Joseph

By FRANCIS GRIBBLE.

Daily Graphic.—"Mr. Gribble strikes one as being coolly unprejudiced, slow to convince, as open-minded as tolerant . . . interesting from the first page to the last."

Standard.—"Deals with a fascinating subject and with problems of immediate and vital importance; his style is as attractive as ever . . . his book will be widely read and appreciated."

Daily News.—"A most engrossing book."

Messrs. CHAPMAN & HALL

have for some time past made a special feature of introducing first novels of merit to the public; and they have much pleasure in announcing that this week they are issuing two stories of unusual interest and distinction by writers whose names have not hitherto appeared on any book.

The RECONNAISSANCE

By GORDON GARDINER

has already been serialised by the "The Daily Telegraph"—a unique honour for the work of an unknown author. The story centres around an exceedingly clever and unconventional situation; and the same may be claimed for

AND AFTERWARDS THE JUDGMENT

By RICHARD CATT

Both novels, in their entirely different ways, are unusually original, and both of them are alive with emotion, and full of real life and character.

THE POWER
THE DUCHESS

By EDWARD QUATER

Author of "The Châlet in the Wood."
"Full of character, vivacity, and keen observation, and what is more to the point, infused with a spirit of humour that bubbles over at every turn."—Daily Telegraph.

The COCKNEY AT HOME

By EDWIN PUGH

Author of "Punch and Judy," "Harry the Cockney," &c.
"A seam of rich and unfaltering naturalistic comedy . . . he is a master of situation . . . almost a work of genius."—Daily News and Leader.

SPLENDRUM

By LINDSAY BASHFORD

Author of "Everybody's Boy," &c.

"An excellent fictional study of some contemporary conditions . . . strong characters, convincingly drawn, and the divergencies of their points of view furnish the motif of a really fine sociological study."—Sunday Times.

THERE WAS A DOOR

By the Author of

"ANNE CARSTAIRS"

"Brilliant . . . scintillates with crisp epigrams, and is interspersed with shrewd and caustic comments . . . sparkling wit . . . a work of true art . . . radiates a kind of gay charm which is exhilarating."—Outlook.

THREE INTERESTING NOVELS IN GENERAL LITERATURE*THE ROMANCE OF FRAUD

By TIGHE HOPKINS

Author of "A Voyage into Prison," "The Man in the Iron Mask," &c., &c.

Illustrated. Demy 8vo. 7s. 6d. net.

"Altogether a brave, clean, healthy book, full of interest for all sorts of readers, from the serious student of history to the rosy schoolboy hungry for stories of adventure."—Daily Chronicle.

A LADY OF LEISURE

(Second Impression.)

ETHEL SIDGWICK

"It is a brilliant piece of work and will certainly add to Miss Sidgwick's considerable reputation."—The Nation.THE CITY OF HOPE C. FOX SMITH

Miss Fox Smith's first novel is a realistic romance of present-day life in Canada, where a young Englishman goes to win a living. Although he meets with disappointments, he finds, after exciting adventures, the best form of happiness.

"The book is full of enlightenment for the ignorant and of questions for the thoughtful."—The Observer.THE LAST ENGLISH

(Just published.)

GEORGE BARTRAM

The scene of Mr. Bartram's new novel is laid in a Midland village of 1840, amidst an exciting atmosphere of poaching, rustic love and jealousy. The characters, sturdy, shrewd, and humorous, are all essentially English, but of a type now almost vanished. The central figure, a Herculean young labourer, falls into the toils of a heartless girl, but eventually frees himself and finds a worthier mate.

"A notable presentment . . . of rustic life in a Midland village seventy years ago. . . ."—Times.THE MAKING OF BLAISE

A. S. TURBERVILLE

This, the author's first novel, is a study of heredity. Philip Brown, an artist by nature, revolts against the Philistinism of his family, escapes abroad, and marries a French strolling actress. Their son Blaise is adopted after the death of his parents by the Brown family, who endeavour to "save" him from the results of his upbringing. (March 10th.)

JAMES

W. DANE BANK

The story of the meteoric rise of a Lancashire lad determined to get on at all costs. After a brief career as office-boy in a hat factory, he audaciously starts a patent remedy. Next, as a speculative financier in London, he at first succeeds, but finally overreaches himself. He staves off ruin by a particularly bold stratagem, which serves also as the dénouement of the love interest. (Shortly.)

RUSSIA: The Country of Extremes.

BY

N. JARINTZOFF

The author of this book is a Russian lady who has resided in England for some years. She is thus able to put the Russian scene effectively before English readers, while her information, social and political, is fully up-to-date. As she shrinks from nothing in narrating political scandals, or in contrasting Russian social customs with English; the book is exceptionally vivid and striking.

Recollections of Sixty Years

By Rt. Hon. Sir Charles Tupper, Bart., P.C., G.C.M.G., C.B.

Ex-Prime Minister of the Dominion of Canada.

To attain the age of 92 and to have devoted over 60 years to public affairs, is a record achievement for a statesman. Sir Charles Tupper, the "Grand Old Man of Canada," is easily the doyen of the world's politician's of to-day. His recollections are of appealing interest. Many important letters written by Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, Earl Grey, Sir J. A. Macdonald, and other prominent politicians are included in this volume.

"He has that in him which can raise inspiring visions for us, and might give dull drifting people a thrilling aim for their lives."
MR. C. E. MONTAGUE in The Manchester Guardian.

An Englishman Looks at the World

By H. G. Wells

The Pull Mall Gazette says: "One would give a great deal to know that every Englishman has been once through such a book. As an antidote to intellectual notishness, as a vivid suggestion of comparative standards, and as a trumpet summons to conventions, it has truly remarkable possibilities.
